

Which two best practices protect your network from VLAN hopping attacks?
(Choose two.)

- A. Configure an ACL to prevent traffic from changing VLANs.
- B. Configure port security.
- C. Assign all access ports to VLANs other than the native VLAN.
- D. Configure dynamic ARP inspection.
- E. Change the native VLAN to an unused VLAN ID.

Correct Answer: CE

